

Health insurance eligibility rates for private-sector employees increased in 2018, but take-up rates declined

Eligibility rates for employees at all private-sector establishments that offer employer-sponsored insurance increased.

Take-up rates among these eligible employees declined between 2017 and 2018.

